make rubber, but refused this little company.

By this time the big companies had not even started construction of their post-Pearl Harbor plant, yet Publicker now has been producing butadiene in its laboratory for six weeks. Yet when Publicker's president came to Washington and told Weidlein and Newhall, "I'm ready to deliver butadiene," they asked for blueprints.

"Blue prints," he cried. "This is no experiment. We are actually in production."

But the government's rubber experts put him off. They would not even give him an order.

All this leaked out in the senate last week and midwest senators are raising Cain. They are pressing Jesse Jones for an answer to the question, "Why did you allocate $650,000,000 for making rubber from petroleum, and not a penny for the alcohol process?"

And the senate is also pressing both Rubber Reserve and WPB for an answer to the question, "Why did your 'experts' close their minds to new ideas?"

Stork Trouble

Having a baby in overflowing Washington these days is no easy matter.

The hospitals are as crowded as the hotels, and obstetricians are advising their patients to have their babies at home.

To meet demands for more space, one big woman's hospital has eliminated all but one of its waiting rooms and converted them into wards. As a result, prospective fathers have to shift for themselves in the corridors or on the lawn during their vigil.

Note: No one has yet suggested a ration system on babies in the capital.

Henderson's Warning

Price Administrator Leon Henderson told the house ways and means committee a lot more during his secret testimony than he afterwards disclosed to newsmen. Here are some items which were not made public.

Henderson predicted that if the current levels of earnings are maintained, the total national income this year will approximate 117 billion dollars, or 25 billions more than in 1941.

On the other hand, due to the enormous war production demands, the supply of consumer goods will be 26 per cent less than last year.

This wide disparity between purchasing power and available consumer goods, Henderson warned is the great inflationary "explosive" factor. With a lot more money in people's pockets than supplies on which to spend it, a competitive situation develops that may set off a catastrophic price runaway unless drastically controlled.

17 Billion Excess
Illustrating this problem, Henderson pointed out that about 31 billions of the estimated 117 billion dollar national income will be absorbed by taxes and savings, leaving 86 billions in spendable money. However, there will be only 69 billions of consumer commodities.

This 17 billion dollar excess, he declared, is what must be kept in check in order to prevent it from setting in motion an inflationary spiral that would smash the nation's economic system.

Tough as this problem is, Henderson predicted that the situation will be even worse in 1943. He estimated that by next year purchasing power will be three times greater than in 1932 while the supply of consumer goods will be only the same as in that year, the pit of the depression.

The price administrator told the committee that the only way disastrous inflation can be averted is by the most stringent government controls.

He said he fully realized that such measures as rationing and price ceilings might cause bootlegging and "blackmarkets." But he expressed the belief that patriotic public opinion would militate powerfully against such law breaking.

"In England," Henderson pointed out, "bootlegging of food and other scarce commodities is causing so much public resentment that many are demanding that those who buy or sell on the 'black market' be taken out and shot."

Mrs. Dorothy D. Highleyman was granted a divorce in circuit court Wednesday from Samuel L. Highleyman, and her maiden name, Dorothy May Davis, was restored. Her husband had filed suit for divorce, but it was granted to her on a cross-bill filed by her against her husband.

BILL PAYS A VISIT

CHAPTER XIV

DRONINGSGADE was bustling with mid-morning activity when Bill Talcott, with MacDowell grimly at his heels, came down the hill from Hotel 1829. Islanders thronged the narrow walk on the shady side of the street; tourists traveled in detached groups, inspecting bargains in the windowless shops, taking pictures, talking animatedly amongst themselves. Naval and Marine trucks rolled on the left side of the attenuated road, their drivers swearing at fare-seeking taxis. Blast of juke boxes, medley of horns, loud talk and laughter, and, somewhere nearby, the braying of a donkey were Charlotte Amalie's complement of morning sounds.

"Th' tropics," MacDowell grunted, his nostrils flaring at the pungent odor of bay rum.

They had bettered Talcott's prediction by almost two hours; had arrived in Pillsbury Sound while the Blue Petrel was still blowing for a pilot. They'd had luck at Tortola dock. The harbor master and immigration officer were on hand, busy with a group of forlorn natives whom some smuggler, possibly Jackson, had dumped in their laps. June Peterson had called her friends and then had gone off, taking Martha Swenson with her; Halsey and the Professor found lodgings elsewhere. Sebastian followed his usual custom of sleeping in the launch.

At the door of the Radiomarine office a huge man whose great paw was filled with cables yelled an enthusiastic greeting to Bill Talcott; an equally huge though shorter man on the opposite curb yelled at both Talcott and the cable bearer. "Jack and Sparky," Talcott said in response to MacDowell's question. "Rum. One makes it, the other sells it."

MacDowell acted as though he'd like to learn more about the rum business, but Talcott gave him no opportunity. In New York, Federal Chemical would have been going full blast for an hour. Old Man Winters would be working on his second cigar of the day.

Talcott passed up a radiogram in favor of the phone, and his remarks to MacDowell that the booth had been built for one brought no withdrawal. Presently "Federal Chemical, good morning," sang in his ears.

"This is Talcott, Plant Number Six. I want to talk to Winters."

"Sorry. Mr. Winters is in Washington."

He might have known. "When'll he be back?"

"He has to be here tomorrow in time to make the Clipper. He has appointments in London."

He might have known that too. With all the need for nitrates the Old Man would be busier than a mother hen. He said, "Let me talk to his secretary."

"Just a moment. I'll connect you—" A buzz, click and a new voice, "Mr. Winters' office."

"This is Bill Talcott. What's all this baloney about not getting my duplicate vouchers?"

An appreciable pause. Then, "Sorry. I'm not allowed to discuss that."

"Blas't your regulations! I mailed those vouchers, every last one of 'em. Struthers is trying to burn me at the stake!"

"I'm sorry. I have been given explicit orders not to discuss the matter," and click! she rang off.

SO that was how it was to be. The old steamroller, Bill Talcott's eyes narrowed grimly. No sense in trying to locate Winters by phone; like as not he'd be appearing before a Congressional subcommittee, telling them how to run the war. Quitting the booth he seized a blank and composed a message. A message that was calculated to make Winters miss three Clippers if necessary. Then, more slowly, he wrote another and after long study signed it "Bill."

MacDowell, crowding over his shoulder, gaped in astonishment when he saw the name "Captain Lowell Byrd," and the designation "G-2."

The detective's attitude had changed noticeably when they again reached the street. His oft-repeated suggestion that they still had to get reservations was supplemented with a hasty, "After you been to the bank, o' course!"

Talcott's fear that Struthers might have attached his account proved groundless. In the cool recesses of the building off the market place a sad-eyed teller murmured about the misfortune of losing such a valued client. A tidy sum it made, the total of his savings. He withdrew it all.

In the steamship company offices they found no difficulty. There was room aplenty for the return trip.

"A moot point arises here," Bill Talcott grinned. "Who pays for my passage?"

"You do," MacDowell grunted.

Questionnaires For Older Registrants

JEFFERSON CITY, May 28—

(P)—Occupational questionnaires will be sent next month to Missourians between 45 and 65 years old who registered April 27, state selective service headquarters announced Wednesday.

"The nation will have pressing need, by late autumn, for around 10,500,000 additional war workers," said Col. Claude C. Earp, state draft director. "It is from the men beyond military age that the war manpower commission expects to obtain most of the male recruits for this work."

All other classes of registrants already have received their job questionnaires, which must be filled out and returned within 10 days after received.

Some Bombastic Claims Of Axis Termed Propaganda

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Like Nazi claims of three Russian armies trapped and about to be annihilated in the Ukraine battle, Premier Tojo's assertion that a Japanese "victory" in the Coral sea had left Australia defenseless must be classed as largely propaganda.

Both were designed primarily for home-front consumption. They represent that most favored figure of speech in axis technique, hyperbole, the art of extreme exaggeration. They could not be expected to fool anybody but their authors' own people.

Just why such an attempt at befuddlement of the home folks should be deemed necessary at this time is not clear. The winds of rumor have been busy with tales of rising discontent in Germany. But not in Japan.

Nor could General Tojo actually have expected his fire-breathing threats against India and Australia to bring those United Nations falling into Japan's lap like ripe plums. He had some other purpose in mind and it was not to bolster Japanese morale. It must have been to add fuel to the fire of Australian, Chinese and Indian pleas for more American troops, planes, tanks and guns.

Tojo knows that despite the impressive Japanese victories he could otherwise recite unchallenged, Japan's fate no less than Germany's is in process of being decided in Russia. The caution, not unmixed with implied threats, with which he dealt with Russian-Japanese relations testified to that.

His reiterated promise that Japan would do her full share as a partner of Germany and Italy excluded a diversion attack on Russia, at least so long as Russia maintained her part of the non-aggression bargain. By implication that suggests Japanese readiness to attack if Russia offers aid and comfort to the allies against Japan.

Look Toward Europe

If Tojo hoped to aid Germany by diverting British-American forces from the Atlantic and Mediterranean to the Pacific and Indian oceans he is not apt to be successful. Arrival of important American military and naval leaders in England is sufficient notice that it is in Europe, and not the Orient, that Washington and London look for major war developments relatively soon.

Tojo's new pledge of axis fellowship was mere lip service unless Japan is prepared to march against Russia now, when her intervention to aid Germany could greatly increase Russia's peril. Tojo obviously realizes that such a move would expose Japan to close up air attack from the north as well as the east.

And while it is all but impossible to get a clear picture of what is happening on the flaming 200-mile battlefield about Kharkov, there is still nothing to confirm German claims of a huge encirclement trap already woven about Marshal Timoshenko's armies. The contrary, the encirclement boot might prove to be on the other foot according to Russian reports, the main stem of the German counter attack is halted. Presumably at the bend of the Donets river in the Izyum vicinity. A dangerous but narrower Nazi thrust southeastward which seems to have penetrated Russian lines north of Izyum also is reported stalled. Presumably it was upon expected juncture of these forces along the railroad connecting Kharkov and Izyum that the Nazis' premature claims of a vast encirclement trap were based.

However, authorized London versions of the battle in Russia say Timoshenko's grip on Krasno-Grad junction, far west of the Izyum area, is unrelaxed. It constitutes still a deadly menace to main German communications across the Dnieper upon which the whole Nazi south flank to the Crimea hinges.

And if that is true, Russian hopes of turning the tables of entrapment on stalled German counter thrusts must still be high.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.

These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Freeze Jobs In War Industries

War Manpower Body To Curb 'Labor Pirating'

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(P)—A "freezing" of essential workers in critical war industries to their present jobs was decided upon Wednesday by the war manpower commission to stop "labor pirating," described as a severe interference with war production.

In this far-reaching move, the United States employment service was made the "sole hiring agency for critical skills in critical areas."

A commission spokesman said the action meant that henceforth essential workers would be "unable to change from one war plant to another without approval of the United States employment service."

The policy will become effective, he told newsmen, as soon as the proper directives can be drafted, "which means immediately." He declined to discuss the possible effects the policy might have on the stabilization of wages in war plants.

"This simply means," he said, meeting will be at the Thierfelder home in June.

Neighbors and friends met at the home of Mrs. Daisy Higdon last Monday evening in honor of her daughter Miss Mary Jeanette, whose birthday anniversary was May 17. The evening was spent very pleasantly in conversation, music and games. Each family contributed to the lunch which was served late in the evening. The guest of honor received many useful presents.

Miss Louise Stoecklein, who has employment in Boonville, visited the weekend here with her mother, Mrs. Frank Gramlich and Mr. Gramlich and family.

Mrs. E. J. Hallahan will entertain the Clifton City Homemakers at her home Wednesday afternoon June 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Smith were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schroeder and family, of near Pilot Grove, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Wallace of Marshall were guests of his brother, L. L. Wallace and wife, west of town, Sunday. Other guests in this home Sunday were: Miss Adelia Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blum of Smithton, and Mrs. Elliott Schupp and daughter of Beaman.

"that all employment in critical war plants will be handled exclusively by the United States employment service. Pirating of labor has become acute, especially in the aircraft industry. The pirating usually is done by a plant offering more money to a worker in another plant. This practice, the commission has found, causes instability and slows down production."

A commission spokesman said that in the future an employee in such a critical industry would be unable to change jobs without approval of the United States Employment Service.

The policy will become effective, according to an announcement, as soon as the proper directive can be drafted.

Asked how it could be enforced the spokesman said the control could be operated through contracts with the war production industries.

The "pirating of labor," especially through offer of larger wages, was reported to have become acute. This is especially true, the spokesman said, in the aircraft industry.

Apply To Vast Number

The freeze was expected to affect many hundreds of thousands, if not millions of persons. There was talk in some government circles of some sort of arrangement to equalize pay, so that a worker might be recompensed for his inability to move from what is now a relatively low paid job, to a higher one.

At a hearing before the war labor board in a wage dispute case today, Wayne Morse, public member of the board, brought up this possibility.

He said that if government agencies take the position that men should not move from a low-paid job to a high-paid post, "then we ought to see to it that the pay is somewhat equalized."

"It is not fair," he said, "for the government to say to a private citizen, 'we don't think you ought to be allowed to move into another higher-paying job because we need you in the job you are now in,' unless the government is willing to stabilize wages so that he is not going to suffer financially because of that policy of the government."

Sians reported that the Germans were staging "psychological attacks" in which the Nazis charged Red army lines, firing wildly and shouting at the tops of their lungs. In one such attack, 1,000 "psychologists" were left dead on the field.

German headquarters said flatly that axis troops had crushed the Russians in an "outstanding victory" south of Kharkov and captured 165,000 Russians.

The Red armies, however, declared they had thrown back two violent German assaults in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector and killed more than 2,400 Nazis in the last 24 hours.

Soviet front line dispatches said the Germans were being forced to yield ground in both the Izyum-Barvenkova and Kharkov sectors, indicating that the Red armies held the initiative firmly on both those key battlefields of the Ukraine.

The Russians said Hitler's legions, blocked in their offensive on the southern flank, were trying to dig in on new defense lines but that repeated Soviet counter attacks were driving them back.

"Annihilation of the few remaining groups still offering resistance is continuing," the German high command said.

United Nations headquarters said allied interceptors tore into a squadron of 15 Japanese zero planes yesterday over the air-drome at Port Moresby, New Guinea, shooting down one and damaging six others.

Welsh Freed; Then Arrested

Hurley who denied it.

"We'll get bail," shouted Barker in anger as he turned and looked at the youth, who has been held in jail since a county grand jury indicted him in January.

Hurley, one of the eight justices of the peace in the county, set Welsh's preliminary hearing for June 15. The events were as if no preliminary hearing had been held before Justice Dougherty. The case starts from the beginning again.

Welsh enjoyed technical freedom only 40 minutes while deputy sheriffs hovered in the background.

Spectators Cheered

Spectators in the crowded little courtroom cheered as the dismissal came and the defendant grinned widely. His mother rushed to embrace him. Tears were streaming down her cheeks as she buried her head on her son's shoulder.

"I do not believe that the entire evidence as produced in the case would convince a jury of reasonable men beyond a probable doubt of the guilt of the defendant," Dougherty read from a briefly penned decision. "The defendant is discharged."

County Prosecutor Michael O'Hern, who with Attorney General Roy McKittick had paraded state witnesses to the stand for six days in an effort to build a substantial case against the youth, asked for 15 minutes to file a new charge of murder.

Trials Denied Twice

"The state has been twice denied the privilege of bringing George W. Welsh, Jr., to trial before a jury of 12 men," said O'Hern as the charge was dismissed. "In the light of the testimony that the state has introduced before Justice Dougherty in the preliminary hearing, I am determined as long as I am prosecuting attorney of this county I will use every legal means to bring the defendant to trial."

A grand jury indictment charging the youth with the crime was set aside by a circuit court judge on the ground that the jurors had overstepped their authority in their investigations. O'Hern filed the first degree murder charge after the indictment's dismissal.

Finds Peculiarly Marked Terrapin

A terrapin with peculiar markings underneath its shell was found this week by Erwin Smith, farmer, residing about 2 1/2 miles east of Longwood. The small tortoise was located by a dog belonging to Smith, and was captured by the farmer in a clover field near his house.

The terrapin's shell is of the ordinary greenish color on top, but underneath it is a brilliant pink and yellow hue, with a figure resembling a flying squirrel in flight imprinted in a dark color.

No terrapin with a similar marking has been reported in this vicinity.

Expect Revenge For Tokyo Visit

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP)—

Secretary Stimson said today the War Department considered a Japanese air raid on the United States to be inevitable as a return blow for Brigadier General James H. Doolittle's attack on Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

The secretary told his press conference the army was doing everything possible to meet the expected attack, which he indicated was anticipated on the West Coast.

"Whatever happens, we shan't relax our most effective defense—our preparations for a major offensive," he said.

Stimson also told a questioner that despite the great distance the east coast lies from Japan, an attack on the national capital was "not inconceivable." He did not discuss the possibility of attack by Japan's axis partners.

The "loss of face" Japan suffered from the army air attack led by General Doolittle made a vengeance blow inevitable, Stimson contended.

"The United States, through General Doolittle, inflicted a stinging, humiliating, surprise blow on the Japanese as evidenced by their boasting of Japan's invulnerability at the very time the bombers came over," the secretary said.

Murray Ousted From Office In UMW

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(AP)—John L. Lewis today ousted Philip Murray, president of the CIO, from his $18,000 a year job as vice-president of the United Mine Workers.

Lewis, president of the miners, declared the vice-presidency vacant and was upheld by the UMW executive board by a vote of 17 to 1.

Lewis then named John O'Leary, Pittsburgh, to Murray's place.

A UMW spokesman explained that under the union's constitution Murray, in effect, vacated his office when he accepted the salaried leadership of the Steel Workers' Union.

Martin Wagner, representing District 50 of the UMW, cast the lone vote against ousting Murray.

Stock Market Irregular

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—Irregularity seeped into today's stock market as profits were cashed on Wednesday's climbing steels and metals.

It looked at the start as though the list might duplicate the recovery of the previous session but offerings in leading industrial groups soon halted a modest initial advance.

While plus signs were fairly well distributed in the final hour, losers were sufficiently numerous to cloud the direction.

Dealings dwindled and transfers were around 350,000 shares. Volume was aided by one 10,000-share block of City International, unchanged at 1/2.

The approach of a lengthy week-end—principal markets will recess Saturday for Memorial Day—caused lightening of commitments here and there, brokers said.

Tokyo Bombing Just A Sample Of What The Axis May Look For

BY JIM THOMAS

SPOKANE, Wash., May 28.—(AP)—For the discomfort of the enemy—Berlin, Rome, Tokyo—Maj. Gen. Robert Olds asserted today the personnel of the Doolittle mission which bombed Japan was "just an advance sample" of what all the thousands of bomber crews being developed in the United States will be able to do.

"Units graduating from the Second Air Force," he said "will be trained in their routine procedure so that any given entire squadron can be given a mission to bomb Tokyo, Berlin or Rome and do just as good a job as the advance group of select volunteers under General Doolittle did."

General Olds, who took command of the Second Air Force only 12 days ago, has completed detailed inspection of the world's most far-flung advanced bomber training organization and made his statements in an interview.

Stresses Two Points

Two other points were stressed: 1. Trained pilots and crews will be ready to handle all the bombers it is possible to produce. 2. It takes time to build an air force, and there is no substitute.

Aircraft of the Second Air Force are being flown day and night, bombs are being dropped and machine guns fired the clock around; navigators are learning in all kinds of weather and under all conditions to get their missions over their targets and then safely back home.

"The long-range bombers coming off the American assembly lines now are built with the precision of a watch. We expect, and demand, that they are handled with the same precision, in every respect."

W. H. Highleyman Announces For County Office

Wilbur H. Highleyman of Sedalia, well known to the citizens, has announced his candidacy for Presiding Judge of the County Court of Pettis County on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Highleyman was born in Sedalia in 1872, the son of Hon. Saml. L. Highleyman who was a member of the legislature and treasurer of the Centennial Commission commemorating the 100 year anniversary of statehood.

W. H. Highleyman

He was assistant tax commissioner for the Missouri Pacific Railway for 18 years and for the past 36 years, he has been engaged in the insurance business both as a local agent and as an official of one of our largest multiple line insurance companies in the world.

In 1897, he was married to Cora Beck, daughter of William Beck who was one of our first settlers and merchants. He has three children, one girl and two boys.

He has made a success of his personal affairs and is well qualified from every view point to satisfactorily handle the affairs of the county in the position to which he aspires. He will give all his time to the office, and endeavor by every means to reduce taxes where it would be advisable or possible. He promises an efficient administration.

90 per cent practice and 10 per cent study.

Just how many trained units there would be is, of course, a military secret, but the general asserted there would be plenty.

Cotton Pickers' Strike Spreads

CHARLESTON, Mo., May 28.—(AP)—The "stay at home" strike of cotton field workers in southeast Missouri has gradually spread toward the Arkansas line with quite a number of cotton croppers, mostly Negroes, declaring their intention of remaining at home rather than to work for less than 30 cents an hour.

The minimum figure was adopted at a recent mass meeting represented by organization members from a half dozen counties in the southeast Missouri cotton belt and a few from northeast Arkansas.

Despite the so-called strike, officials of government employment offices announced today that so far there is a surplus of farm labor.

Donald Henderson of Chicago, general president of the United Cannery, Agricultural and Allied Workers of America, sent advertisements to some newspapers in the cotton district today announcing he was appealing to the war labor board and the United States Conciliation Board to take action assuring cotton workers a fair living wage. He said there is no representation for settlement of such disputes between thousands of cotton workers and the landlords. He recommended a mediation board be established.

"We are not calling a strike, and do not intend to call one, he announced, but insisted "the workers are starving to death on wages of 12½ cents an hour."

Some cotton workers in Scott, Mississippi, New Madrid and Pemiscot counties expressed determination today to stay out of the fields unless they are paid the demanded wage. So far as could be determined, however, there was no clearly organized strike movement under way.

Donation For Soldiers' Kits

Most gratifying to the American Red Cross board, in response to the appeal for funds with which to fill the soldiers' kit, which was published in last Sunday's Democrat-Capital, was the answer that speaks louder than words, an answer by the women employees of the Lamy Manufacturing company.

Miss Ruth Gantert, of that company, presented to Mrs. Robert Spencer, secretary of the Red Cross, the sum of $18.25, thus insuring that 18 kits will be completely equipped and will go overseas to our armed forces.

The local Red Cross chapter, which is making 360 kits, has contracted to fill 100.

The women of the V.F.W. have also contributed $5 to this important project. Miss Gantert had already given $3, and other Sedalia organizations may wish to help.

These soldier kits will play small, but important parts in the overseas war theatre. They hold the personal effects of our men in action and since they are stout and durable, will in many instances outlast the duration. One dollar provides equipment for one kit.

Keep 'em rolling.

Movie Head Highest Paid Executive

$478,144, and other top ranking steel masters whose firms are engaged in war production.

The figures also do not represent the largest incomes in the United States since many persons who serve with small salaries or no salaries have big returns from investments.

George Washington Hill, president of the American Tobacco company, who got $456,415 in 1940 to place among the first three, dropped sharply in 1941 to $288,144. This decline apparently resulted from a New York Supreme Court decision against the company which brought a reduction in "incentive compensation" paid the company's top executives. The court suit was noted on the company's report.

Stars Rank High

Behind Hill came Darryl F. Zanuck, who received $260,000 as vice-president in charge of production for Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation which also paid Ginger Rogers $215,000 and Tyrone Power $188,125 for their picture work.

Among others who received $200,000 or more in 1941 were: C. W. Deyo, president, F. W. Woolworth company $252,061; Harry W. Bracy, a branch manager for the Kroger Grocery and Baking company, $249,690; Harry F. Vickers, president, Vickers, Inc., and Waterbury Tool company, affiliates of the Sperry corporation, $229,316; Charles Boyer, French movie star, $220,833, and Deanna (Edna Mae) Durbin, $203,166; both from Universal Pictures. Miss Durbin also received $20,530 from Decca Records, Inc. Robert Stanley of Dongan Hills, Staten Island, N. Y., received $215,050 as chairman and president of the International Nickel company of Canada, Ltd.

Slight Change This Year
The remuneration paid to Bing Crosby, who got $150,000 in 1940 from Universal Pictures, was not shown in picture company reports this year but Decca Records reported he was paid $100,640 by that company.

The Consolidated Oil company reported a payment of $155,959 to H. F. Sinclair as president and director and the Richfield Oil Corporation in Los Angeles reported a $60,040 payment to Sinclair as chairman and director, bringing Sinclair's 1941 total to $214,999.

With the exception of the changes in the high ranking movie stars, the reports showed that remunerations paid, including bonuses or shares in profits, changed only slightly in 1941 from the previous year. In some instances declines were noted.

Missing Women Are Back Home

House Votes Again For $50 Pay Proposal

Cries Of 'Politics' Highlights The Debate On Issue

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(P)—For the second time in two weeks, the house overwhelmingly voted Wednesday for a minimum pay of $50 monthly for service men. It sent back to conference a compromise proposal worked out by a senate-house committee recommending $42.

The action virtually eliminated any chance for a service pay boost becoming effective before July 1 since the bill provides that any raises shall become effective on the first day of the calendar month following its enactment. For the increase to go into effect June 1, the conferees would have to reach an agreement and both branches and the President approve it, by Sunday, House leaders already have announced their intention of adjourning after tomorrow.

Senate and house consideration of the bill providing allowances for service men's dependents, a companion measure, also may be delayed.

Cries of "politics" and putting "a dollar sign" on patriotism highlighted the one hour of debate that preceded the 332 to 31 vote on a motion by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) to reject the compromise and instruct the conferees to stand by the house figure. The vote was almost identical with the 332 to 28 count by which the house on May 13 turned down the senate-approved $42 scale.

Precedence On Motion

Rankin's motion took precedence over one by Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee that the compromise be accepted. The committee had recommended $42, an increase of $12 over the $30 monthly now paid a private and an apprentice seaman after four months of service. Men entering the service receive $21.

The committee also had recommended that first class privates and second class seamen be boosted from $36 to $48, but the house insisted that its action of May 13 raising this figure to $54 be upheld by its conferees.

May declined to disclose what course he would follow next in behalf of the $42 originally proposed by the army and navy but several other conferees predicted the joint committee would stick to its guns and report the $42 again. This procedure, it was thought, might persuade $50 advocates to yield rather than incur a deadlock.

Fifty dollars, Rankin told the house, was what nine-tenths of the house membership and the nation wanted. He cited high wages being paid industrial workers. Rep. Sutphin (D-N.J.), referring to industrial profits on war contracts, said that if the members failed to vote for at least $50, "we should hang our heads in shame when we pass an enlisted man on the street."

Rep. Reed (R-NY) commented that Australian privates, "probably getting paid out of lend-lease fund," receive more than $50.

"The tinge of politics is bound to color what we do here today," declared Rep. Costello (D-Calif.). He contended it was not a matter of providing adequate pay because a soldier's value could not be measured "with dollars and cents."

"You can't pay for patriotism" like that shown at Bataan, he added, pleading with his colleagues not to "smear patriotism with a dollar sign."

Costello scoffed at Rankin's contention that the $50 minimum would prevent a bonus fight after the war, and predicted that the leading advocates of the higher figure would be among the first to introduce bonus legislation.

Sales Tax To War Projects

JEFFERSON CITY, 28.—(P)—The state applied its two per cent sales tax to war construction jobs Wednesday and estimated the levy would produce $1,000,000 revenue this year alone.

The war department issued an order authorizing collection of the tax on materials used in construction on cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.

G. H. Bates, sales tax supervisor said auditors would go to work tomorrow at the Lake City armament plant to determine the amount of tax due the state since Nov. 11—date of a supreme court ruling extending the sales tax over such projects.

Eventually auditors will examine construction records of army projects at St. Louis, Weldon Springs, Ft. Leonard Wood, Vichy, Mo., Louisiana, Mo., Knob Noster and probably the military hospital at Springfield.

Fixed-fee contracts were exempt from sales taxes prior to Nov. 11. Consequently the state will be unable to collect on some of the biggest military projects which were completed before that date.

Bombers Back After 45 Days In The Wilds

Return To Base In Day Of Glad Home Coming

By TOM YARBROUGH
AN ALLIED OPERATIONAL BASE, AUSTRALIA, May 28.—(P)—Tattered and shaggy but grinning big, an American bomber crew has returned to this base after being forced down in the swampy wilds of New Guinea and lost from headquarters for a record span of 45 days.

It was a day of glad homecoming all around, for with them came an American fighter pilot who had been out 26 days.

Several bomber crews have made their way back to base after being lost many days among the native tribes, but this outfit, headed by Pilot Louis W. Ford, 22, of Los Angeles, set the record of nearly seven weeks in the bush.

The entire crew suffered from malaria and tropical ulcers, but they found friends along the way and generally were in good shape when they pulled in.

The other members of the crew are Lieut. John H. Disbro, 41, Defiance, O., Lieut. Edward S. Ashley, San Antonio, Tex., and Private J. E. Ochs, Lancaster, Pa., J. A. Roberts, Kingston, Pa., Robert Long, Centerburg, O., and W. F. Loranger, Saginaw, Mich.

Revel In Food

Today these boys were reveling in the pleasures of cleanly-cooked food, American cigarettes and conservation with people they can understand.

The hero of the second home coming is Fighter Pilot Arthur E. Andres, 32, of Newton, Mass. Out on his first combat mission over Lae and Salamaua, New Guinea Ports, he was nipped by Japanese Zero fighters but he kept scrapping so long that he ran out of gasoline some distance from Lae—and a greater distance from his home base.

He crash-landed on a beach 30 feet wide, pitted his stamina and ingenuity against hardships galore for nearly a month and arrived here to find this compensation: Fifteen letters and two pictures from his wife, Barbara, and promotion to the rank of first lieutenant.

When I met him at his camp he said, "this may be where all the bombs are falling, but it's like heaven to me. I'm just waiting to get up in the air. I want to learn to fly again. They tell me I'm going up tomorrow."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better.

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning some-times show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Time To Be On Guard On Insect Pests Has Arrived

Protection For Various Crops Is Necessary

Everyone should be on guard daily for insects that are destructive to both field crops and vegetables says J. U. Morris, County Extension Agent. Nothing is more disconcerting than to have some insect pest destroy a good prospect for a fine garden. Watchfulness is the key word and doing the right thing at the right time is certainly necessary. It may mean the difference between the saving and losing a crop.

Aphids are appearing now. They are very small purplish, green, or black sucking insects usually found clustered on the underneath side of the leaves or around tender shoots. Nicotine dust or spray used as a contact spray is the best method of control.

The common bean leaf beetle is a small beetle about 1/4 inch long which eats holes in the leaves early in the season, from the underneath side and are difficult to find. For control, dust with calcium arsenate lime mixture, on underneath side of the leaves.

The Colorado potato beetle is serious on potatoes. Either calcium arsenate or arsenate of lead lime dust is satisfactory for control. Frequent applications should be made.

The velvety green cabbage worm is harmful to cabbage and related crops such as kale, cauliflower, etc. Weekly applications of calcium arsenate lime dust should be applied as soon as damage shows up.

The large, flat, brownish black bugs 1/2 inch long found on the underneath side of leaves, vines, cloths, etc., beneath squash, pumpkin, or melon vines are squash bugs. Trap full grown bugs under boards besides plants and crush each morning. Hand picking of egg masses and full grown bugs are helpful. Nicotine dust is effective only on young nymphs.

Cut worms which are one to one and one-half inches long, black to greenish striped worms that cut the plants off at the ground level are best controlled by using poison bran mash applied late in the evening.

Ways For Control
Poisonous dust mixtures to control garden pests include:

1. For insects eating foliage:
Use 1 pound arsenate of lead or 1/2 pound calcium arsenate to 5 pounds hydrated lime and dust thoroughly. Caution—Do not use arsenate of lead on bean foliage. Use Calcium arsenate or crystalline flour mixture may be substituted for either the arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate for beans.

2. For insects sucking out plant juices and causing plants to wilt:
Use nicotine dust mixture. Mix at the rate of 2 tablespoons of nicotine sulphate in 1 pint hydrated lime. (This is the same rate as 1 oz. to 1 lb.) Mix the nicotine and lime in a syrupy paste with a tight lid. Six to eight small stones placed in the bucket will help mix the materials. Shake 15 to 20 minutes. Apply the nicotine dust during the warm part of the day and when little wind is blowing.

3. For Grasshoppers and Cutworms:

Use poison bran mixture at the rate of 1 qt. dry bran with 2 tablespoons Paris green (either white arsenic or sodium arsenite may be used in place of Paris green.) Mix and place in a container that will hold water. Pour 1 1/2 cups of water over the poisoned bran and mix thoroughly until every flake is moistened. The mixture should be crumbly when squeezed in the hand. Apply in early morning for grasshoppers and in late evening for cutworms, scattering very thinly and evenly over the ground. The above quantity should cover about one-sixth acre.

*When white arsenic or sodium arsenite is substituted for Paris green, dissolve poison in water and molasses instead of mixing with dry bran.

There should be no danger to health from the use of arsenical materials on plant foliage, providing they are not applied during a period of at least three weeks prior to the use of the fruits and vegetables.

Mange Cuts Hogs Weight

Heavier Feed In Fattening Them Methods To Give

Mange not only reduces the market value of hogs, but it takes more feed and greater length of time to produce a hundred pounds of gain in a mangy herd of hogs than in a herd free of mange parasites. Although pigs, young stock and old poorly nourished animals of low vitality suffer most from mange, the disease often attacks vigorous mature hogs and causes great losses. The losses are caused by irritation, arrested growth, unthrifty conditions, decreased vitality, and functional disturbances. The disease, however, can be eradicated and the losses reduced to minimum.

Mange is caused by a small mite that penetrates the skin and causes an irritation. This irritation results in extreme annoyance to the hog and it continuously rubs and scratches against some object. The irritation of the mites in the skin results in a thickening of the skin, particularly on the ears, head and neck, on the hocks, and the rear end of the animal—although the entire body may be affected in some animals.

Common mange of hogs is contagious and is usually spread by direct contact with an infected animal. The disease may show up in eleven to fifteen days after the animal has been exposed to the mange mite.

Oil Used Successfully
Lice and mange on hogs can be controlled by dipping in either oil or lime-and-sulphur dips. Crank case oil is commonly used successfully for treating hogs. It is usually available and can be purchased at a low cost. It is advisable to add one gallon of kerosene to each 10 gallons of crank case oil that is used, as the addition of kerosene will make the oil more effective.

If the hand treatment is used, it is advisable to put the hogs in a small enclosure and then sprinkle them with the oil from a sprinkler can being sure to cover all parts of the hog with the oil. Freshly oiled or greased hogs should not be moved rapidly, exposed to bright sunlight, or allowed to become chilled, as injuries to the animals may result.

Lime-and-sulphur dip is effective in eradicating hog mange when four or more dippings are given at intervals of six or seven days. In dipping hogs for mange, the lime-and-sulphur dip should be warm when used, and the temperature of the dip when the hogs are in it should be maintained at 95 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Hogs should be held in the dip at least three minutes.

Hogs that are treated for mange and lice either with oil or lime-and-sulphur dips should be moved to clean grounds and held there for at least thirty days. The old quarters should be thoroughly cleaned out and all litter spread out on ground that is going to be planted to some crop. The inside of the hog house should then be sprayed with the oil or lime-and-sulphur dip to kill any mites that may be present.

Preparation Of Berries For Freeze Locker

Best To Use Well Ripened But Solid Fruits In Process

The results of an experiment on placing strawberries in the freezer locker with varying amounts of sugar was conducted by Miss Virginia Lee Slusher, Home Supervisor of the Farm Security Administration and Miss Dorothy Bacon, Home Demonstration agent, indicates that strawberries may be placed in the locker even with-out sugar and still be usable; however, these home economists recommend that if at all possible the berries be mixed with 1 part sugar to 4 parts of berries. Or 1 part sugar to 8 parts berries, all measurements made by weight.

Part of the berries were mixed with white syrup 1 part to 4 of berries. No flavor change was noticeable, however, berries mixed with honey in the same proportion had a definite honey flavor.

Since the demand for white syrup and honey is so great and they are more expensive than sugar, they are not practical.

Other berries were tried with 1 part sugar to 6 parts berries and one part to 16 parts. There was only a minor difference, if any, in the preservation of shape of the berries with little or so sugar. Since these berries were well ripened sweet berries they were palatable without added sugar.

Best To Use Little Sugar
Since these berries were left in the locker less than one week there is a possibility of flavor, color or texture changes over a longer period of time. Rather than to let home grown berries go to waste or to let the family go without strawberries during the winter months, it would be well to freeze them with the least amount of sugar available, however, since one pound of sugar for every 4 quarts of finished canned fruit and an additional pound of sugar for each member of the family for preserves, jams, jellies, and butters will be available in the near future homemakers should not skimp too much on the berries and cherries which they freeze now.

The procedure for preparing fruits for freezing is to select well ripened fruits with no bruises, wash, stem, or pit, and pack as quickly as possible to prevent the growth of any bacteria. Strawberries, black raspberries, and cherries may be packed dry by mixing 1 lb. sugar to 4 lbs. berries by weight and stirring lightly occasionally until the sugar dissolves, then pack into cold jars which have been sterilized or in waxed cartons made for freezing. Seal tightly and take to a quick freeze compartment. If they must be held overnight, keep them as cool as possible.

Glass jars should have 1 1/2" headspace. Paper cartons 1 1/2" headspace. Syrup pack may be used if preferred to dry pack. To do this cover the fruit with cold sugar syrup using 3/4 cups sugar to 1 quart water. Cherries should have about twice that much sugar if possible.

Red raspberries, peaches, and plums should always be frozen in syrup pack rather than dry pack.

Syrup Used To Save Sugar

The LaMonte Homemakers Extension club in their May meeting used "How to Conserve Sugar" as a roll call topic. Some of the members had prepared the dishes to serve at the covered dish luncheon that noon and then gave the recipes in answer to roll call. Others only gave the recipes. Some of the recipes given are: Chocolate cake, Mrs. E. R. Brown. Beat together with an egg beater 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup syrup, and 2 eggs. Sift together 2-3 cup flour 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Beat ingredients into the other mixture while adding 3/4 cup of sour milk. This makes a thin batter, which when baked in a moderate oven makes a very delicious cake.

Mrs. C. E. Carroll gave the following suggestions for serving fresh strawberries: 3 qts. of berries, 1/2 cup of sugar, 1 cup of syrup, and 8 marshmallows. Cut the marshmallows into small pieces, mix with the syrup and sugar and pour over the berries. This may be served with or without cream or as shortcake.

Mrs. Leonard Reavis gave a recipe for ice cream. 20 marshmallows dissolved in 1/2 cup of peach juice, and 1 cup of crushed peaches. Let cool. Fold in 1/2 pint of whipped cream and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Chill and serve. She suggested 1 cup of juice might be used instead of 1/2 if this was frozen rather than chilled.

Mrs. Geo. Swope gave a recipe for cake frosting. 3/4 cup syrup boiled 3 minutes and poured over two beaten eggs whites. Beat while adding the syrup.

Mrs. Clyde Swope recommended the use of dark syrup in 7 minute frosting.

Other recipes were given by other women, but were not available for this publication.

Production Of Sugar Beets

(In order that citizens of this area may have a thorough understanding of efforts of the Department of Agriculture to relieve the sugar shortage through increased sugar beet production, B. C. Claycomb, Pettis county AAA chairman, has issued the following statement)—

Through the 1942 program, maximum sugar beet production is encouraged. AAA payments of 80 cents per hundred weight, for sugar processed from beets, are offered producers of this crop. Increased planting will mean larger total payments.

In the sugar beet industry there are two fairly rigid ceilings above which production cannot profitably go. One is the capacity of sugar refineries. The other is the matter of competing crops, particularly potatoes, beans, canning peas and tomatoes, which in some cases can be grown more profitably than beets. Additional limitations include the labor supply and the tire shortage. Beets must be transported by truck to processing plants.

Sugar beet growers have indicated they will plant 983,000 acres this year, an increase of 24 percent over 1941.

Sugar beet production for specified periods follows:
Average 1925-29, 1,066 thousand tons.
Average 1930-34, 1,396 thousand tons.

1939, 1,758 thousand tons.
1940, 1,884 thousand tons.
1941, 1,600 thousand tons.

With present favorable prices for sugar, processors are expected to contract as much acreage as possible within the limits of their plants capacity. In addition, all planting restrictions have been removed and a special call has been issued to farmers in sugar beet areas to increase the acreage of that crop.

Hoe And Spade Club In Meeting

The Hoe and Spade 4-H club of Manila held its regular meeting on May 15. The meeting was opened by the members repeating the 4-H club pledge. The study program for the meeting was on how to take care of gardens. Games were played under the direction of Essie Mae Hempton. Some time was spent in singing. Refreshments were served before the members adjourned to meet again on May 29. This is a victory garden club in which the members are working hard toward growing some good food to be canned.

Signed, Billie Hampton, Reporter.

Suggestions for Victory Garden

Make Additional Plantings of Beans

Bush beans are in their most delicious eating stage when they are small, and before the beans become developed in the pods. If eaten when the pods are small and tender they class as a green or yellow vegetable in the diet.

In order to have beans in this best eating stage over a long period during the season, it is necessary to make succession plantings. Six different plantings should be made at 15-day intervals up to the 15th of June, and another planting made the middle of August for fall beans. This means that at least three more plantings can be made, on dates varying somewhat in different sections of the state, but roughly on the first of June, the 15th of June, and the 15th of August.

The same varieties that were used for the early plantings will be used. For green bush beans, the Stringless Green Pod, Full Measure, and Tender Green are three of the varieties which are very successful in Missouri. Of wax varieties the Pencil Pod Wax, the Brittle Wax, and Sure Crop are outstanding.

Shallow Cultivation for Potatoes
Shallow cultivation is desirable for all vegetable crops including potatoes. It is particularly important that cultivation be shallow after the tubers start setting on, which will be from the time plants are in bloom.

From this time until the potatoes are mature the yield will depend largely upon the amount of food which the feeder roots can gather for the plant to store in the potato.

Many of these feeder roots will be in the top six inches of soil, therefore, it is particularly important that all cultivation be shallow to avoid cutting off any of the feeder roots, and in turn reducing the yield.

Summer Care of New Rhubarb Plantings

New rhubarb plantings set this spring with sturdy, healthy roots often have vigorous stems and leaves developed by this time of year. It is a temptation to pull some of these stalks to taste the new plantings.

Rhubarb sends out its shoots and develops its stalks each year from the food which was stored in the roots previously. With the new planting the stalks which have grown this year from this spring's setting are from the food which was stored in the roots when they were set. To pull these off now will handicap those

Q. How will the government program for controlling the cost of living affect farm people?

A. It will keep the cost of living from spiraling upward. The price control program sets the highest price charged by each seller during March for any commodity as the march he can charge for that commodity in the future.

Q. Will price control restrictions be placed on farm products?

A. Not on raw and unprocessed agricultural commodities.

Q. Who will advise rural people concerning price control regulations?

A. State and county USDA Boards, representatives of Department of Agriculture Agencies, schools and local organization of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Q. What are some of the farm products not affected by the control order?

A. Eggs and poultry, all milk products, flour, mutton and lamb, leaf tobacco, and live animals.

Q. Do price ceilings apply to all processed agricultural products?

A. Nearly all products that have been slaughtered, frozen, dried, canned, preserved, milled, crushed, strained or shelled are regulated.

Q. What do farmers have to gain from the control order?

A. Every farmer who farmed during and after the last war remembers the disastrous results which followed the period of high prices. The control order gives assurance that farm prices will remain near the parity level.

At the same time, wholesale and retail prices are to be controlled before further advances occur in the cost of items which must be purchased for home and farm.

roots from becoming well established, and will not only cut down next year's production but will increase the time necessary for the plantings to become well established and make high production.

Time to Quit Cutting Asparagus
Strong, vigorous asparagus shoots are the result of well established roots which each year are able to develop tops after the cutting season is over. These tops allowed to grow will manufacture food which will be stored in the roots for next year's production.

Even on well established plantings, cutting should cease at the end of six or eight weeks. Then well rotted manure to which has been added some complete commercial fertilizer such as 4-16-4, or some superphosphate and lime should be applied. This should be worked in to the soil as deep as possible without injuring the roots. At this same time, of course, all weeds will be destroyed, and following this the tops of the asparagus should be allowed to grow the rest of the season without being cut or bothered.

Conserve Moisture by Keeping Down Weeds

The greatest moisture loss in vegetable production is apt to be through weeds which are not controlled in their seedling stage. Shallow cultivation which stirs only the top soil and destroys seedling weeds is one of the greatest moisture conserving practices.

If the weeds are allowed to grow and develop their root systems and leaves they compete with the vegetables for the food and moisture which is available. The successful producer of vegetables will see to it that weeds do not rob them of their food and moisture. By shallow cultivation he will destroy the weeds in their seedling stage and thus conserve food for his vegetables—and his family.

Control Cabbage Worms

The white butterflies and their offspring, the light green cabbage worms are here earlier than usual this spring. These pests, unless controlled, will soon riddle the cabbage leaves and attack related crops such as kohlrabi and broccoli.

Hand-picking the worms off the plants may be successful where these crops are grown on a very small scale, but in most cases a sprayed will soon pay for itself in the saving of time and labor. The worm is easily killed with a poisonous spray or dust. Arsenate of lead is most widely used, while calcium arsenate may be used, as may also cryolite.

When using either arsenate of lead or calcium as a spray, make the water soapy and add the poison at the rate of one tablespoon to each gallon of water. An equal amount of lime may be added. For a dusting mixture, mix one part of poison with five parts of lime.

For spraying with cryolite, use one tablespoon of this material to each gallon of soapy water, but when used as a dust it should be mixed one part of cryolite with 5 parts of flour instead of lime.

Every gardener should ask his county agent for a copy of Missouri Experiment Station Circular 226, "Controlling Garden Insects."

Uses Syrup To Can Berries

The conservation of wild gooseberries is a very timely subject and is one which Mrs. R. G. Franklin of the South Abell Community practices regardless of the amount of sugar which she can get to use in preserving them.

Mrs. Franklin has canned gooseberries by using one part of syrup to two parts of gooseberries. She says this is sufficiently sweet for pie making. Many women who have felt they could not save the gooseberries this year, no doubt, will be interested in trying out Mrs. Franklin's recipe. The syrup may be either dark or light. Some people may prefer the dark syrup in the same way in which they prefer brown sugar with gooseberries. The procedure for canning these berries is to heat the one part of syrup to the boiling point, drop in the two parts of stemmed gooseberries, bring to a boil, then pack in sterilized jars and process in the water bath for 20 minutes. Next winter these gooseberries will be delicious in a pie or as a shortcake.

Mrs. Jess Fairfax of the South Abell club reports a syrup cake which her family likes. It is as follows: Cream together 1/2 cup shortening, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, and 1 cup of white syrup. Add two eggs, 1 at a time and beat. Sift together 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 2 1/4 teaspoon baking powder. Add alternately to the previous mixture with 1/2 cup of milk and 1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Bake in a moderate oven.

Mrs. Fairfax frosts her cake by using 1/2 cup honey cooked to

Rural Life Problems

How to take care of every day work clothes seems to be a problem of the present and may be a problem of the future. Proper laundrying methods can do as much to save materials as any other one thing. In the first place, clothing should never be placed in the laundry until torn places have been mended and stains removed.

Many small tears are made larger and stains made permanent by the careless placing of a garment in the laundry bag. Clothing should be separated by material, then by dark from light, and last by the very dirty to the slightly soiled.

White cottons and linens should be washed first and be followed by the colored clothes. Soaking of clothing for 20 minutes has been found to loosen dirt so that laundrying will be easier, however, a longer soaking period will have a tendency to swell the meshes of the clothing and the dirt until it is harder to separate the dirt from the clothing.

The wash water should never be too hot to place the hands in it. A good many people ruin clothing by washing them in very hot water. The suds should be made before the clothing is placed in the water and should be sufficient that the latter will remain on top of the water. The motion which keeps the water going through the clothing so as to wash out the dirt particles should be continued long enough to carry out all the dirt particles. Short washing periods often leave dirty clothing. Clothing should be completely rinsed so that none of the suds remains in the material. This may mean from 1 to 5 rinsing waters.

Rinse Water Cooler

The first water should be about the same temperature as that of the suds. The rinse water may gradually become cooler until the last one will be about the same temperature as the air in which the clothing is dried.

Care in wringing clothing so as not to tear off buttons and other fastenings will also help to conserve materials. Zippers should always be closed before washing.

Boiling is not recommended because boiling breaks down the tissues of the material, and will tend to cause the garments to wear out more quickly. There are a few cases in which boiling is necessary in order to disinfect. Bleaches used too frequently may also weaken the fabric. It is to be remembered that soiled garments wear out more readily than clean ones because the dirt particles cut the fibers, however, it is also to be remembered that poor laundrying methods can cause much damage.

The methods by which garments are hung on the line have much to do with the wearing time. For example, if sheets are hung by the hems instead of thrown across the line, the strain does not come at the part which normally receives the most wear. The life of such articles as sheets and other lines can be lengthened by folding as they are taken from the line and not ironing. If the creases of folds are made in different places at different times this also will help to prevent breaking in one place.

Heat Weakens Fibers

The heat from an iron as well as the pressure tends to weaken the fibers and over a period of years cause a break. Ironing on the straight of the material rather than in every direction helps to keep the material straight and to prevent undue strain on the fiber. If clothing which must be ironed, it should be sprinkled and rolled while still damp and allowed to stand at least a half hour, then may be ironed more easily. Leaving the clothing over night or for a longer period of time in warm weather may cause mildew which is a waste of material.

The ironing board should be well padded and smooth in order to prevent any damage or undue pressure on the fabric.

250 degrees, or to the hard boil stage, and beaten into 1 egg white which had been previously beaten.

Deadline June 1 On Allotment

June 1 is the deadline date for making application for a new 1943 wheat allotment, B. C. Claycomb, chairman of the Pettis county Triple-A committee stated. AAA regulations make it possible for any farmer who had no wheat allotment in 1942 and plans to seed wheat in the fall of 1942 and feels he is eligible for an allotment in 1943 to file a request at the local

Fight On To Curb Diseases Of Poultry

Raisers Urged To Put Up Battle To Kill Parasites

Pettis county poultry raisers are likely to have a private war on their hands in the next few days or weeks, according to County Agent J. U. Morris. These private wars, when multiplied, assure real importance in success of the Food for Freedom program and our whole war food effort. Mr. Morris refers to the parasite and disease problems that always multiply at this season for poultry raisers.

All poultry raisers are urged to take the offensive as the best defense against these parasites and the losses in food production and profits they cause. Round worms and tape worms and the parasite that causes coccidiosis are all more prevalent and multiply more rapidly when soil temperatures are high. These parasites increase feed costs, retard growth, and result in poorly developed pullets.

Mr. Morris states that offensive maneuvers to "clear out" these enemies are simple, direct, and effective. He urges every poultry raiser to provide a range shelter for each 125 pullets and locate it on clean ground where green feed, in the form of legume crops or sudan grass, are provided. Pullets that are given the advantage of these conditions can win battle after battle from these parasites.

Quick Action Needed

Immediate action is needed, however, coccidiosis may strike growing pullets at any time. The serious after effects of coccidiosis are worth consideration. This disease not only causes young stock losses, but it is the seat of many other disease troubles, death losses, and less profitable winter production in laying flocks.

Permanent damage comes from the "shock troops" of this parasitic army—that is the soil harbored coccidia and worms. That is why real offense must begin with the building of a range shelter and its location on clean ground where poultry has not been intensively raised for two years.

AAA office. The request will be acted upon by the committee.

If a farm has had a wheat acreage allotment for the past three years, 1940 to 1942, but no wheat has been seeded during that time, the allotment for 1943 will automatically be eliminated. However, application may be made for a new allotment. All requests must be on file in the county office by the deadline date, Claycomb said.

Ponies Defeat All-Stars 11-1

Smith-Cotton's All-Stars fell by the wayside Wednesday night when the Post Office Ponies walked them by a 11 to 1 score. It was a postponed game being played off as a Thursday night league game.

Short handed because of the absence of Durham, All-Star pitcher, the high school stars were unable to handle the ponies who ran away with the game in the fourth inning. At that particular stanza of the game the Ponies trotted six runs across the plate after the game had ridden along in a 1 to 1 tie.

Beucke on the mound for the ponies struckout twelve batters. The score:

All-Stars 010 000 0 1
Ponies 100 613 x—11
Batteries: Vilmer and Lynch; Beuch and Zink.

Tonight the following games are to be played:

Smith-Cotton All-Stars vs. Pirates, 6:15.

Scout Troop No. 61 vs Post Office Ponies, 6:15.

Green Ridge Odd Fellows vs. Roberts Specials, 7:15.

Houstonia Blues vs. Missouri Pacific Ten, at Houstonia under lights. Game scheduled for 9 o'clock.

Cochran In Navy; So Robinson Vs. Servo

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—The navy took Red Cochran and his welterweight championship out of circulation just about the time Ray Robinson was due to get a crack at the crown. Now the Harlem Hammer is going to try to take this loss out of Coast-Guardsman Marty Servo in Madison Square Garden tonight.

The skinny Robinson is 1 to 4 or more to chalk up his 121st straight victory in his unbeaten run as an amateur and pro. This corner likes him to win the ten-round decision.

Some 15,000 of the faithful are expected to turn out for the go-round and chip in to a gross pot of $40,000 or so to see the Hammer do his stuff. There's a chance they might be surprised, because Servo, a baby-faced kid out of Schnectady, has the crowding, hooking style which figures to make trouble for the up-town thumper.

Robinson has the speed, the boxing ability and the punching power to take care of the up-stater.

Ernie Bonham Headed For Pitchers Goal

Browns And Cards Both Winners In Wednesday Games

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The most coveted pitching goal in the major leagues is 30 victories in a season.

The feat hasn't been accomplished since Dizzy Dean had his great season for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934 and it hasn't been done in the American League since 1931 when Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove won 31 for the Philadelphia Athletics.

His Seventh Straight

Bonham bagged his seventh straight victory yesterday, 8-3, from the Philadelphia Athletics.

The big fellow is no strikeout specialist such as Dean or Grove or Bob Feller, but his "forkball" is something the opposing batters usually pop up and his control is amazing. In the seven games he has pitched this season he has walked only five batters.

He may not win 30 games, because there are only 24 weeks in a season and he may not get to work often enough.

The Yanks gave Bonham a five-run boost in the fourth inning yesterday, three of the runs coming on a homer by Tom Henrich, and this enabled the champs to coast to their 16th victory in 19 games.

The Boston Red Sox came out of a slump to overpower the Washington Senators, 10-1, in a night game. Oscar Judd limited the Nationals to six well-spaced hits before a crowd of 17,000. Rookie John Pesky collected three of Boston's 13 hits and scored twice.

Barely Tame Indians

Chicago's usually weak-hitting White Sox collected 17 hits at Cleveland, but had plenty of trouble taming the Indians, 9-7. Three of the Tribe's ten hits were homers and it remained for relief pitcher Joe Haynes to win his own game for the Sox by singling across two runs in the eighth inning.

The St. Louis Browns backed up Johnny Nigelling with extra-base hitting to beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-2. Walt Judd led the attack with a homer, a double and a single.

The Brooklyn Dodgers increased their National League lead to six games by belting the Boston Braves, 4-1, with a three-run ninth-inning rally that settled a hurling duel between Whit Wyatt and Jim Tobin.

Bucky Walters pitched seven-hit ball as the Cincinnati Reds conquered the Chicago Cubs, 10-1, with a 13-hit offensive that included a grand slam home run by Gerald Walker to climax a seven-run spree in the fourth inning.

The surging St. Louis Cardinals moved into second place slightly ahead of Boston by routing the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3. Three errors figured in Pittsburgh's fourth straight setback. Bob Carpenter pitched the New York Giants to a 6-2 decision over the Phils in a night game at Philadelphia.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist
NEW YORK, May 28.—Unique records: Marty Servo, who fights Ray Robinson at the Garden tonight, never appeared in a four-round preliminary; he made his pro debut in a six . . . And Robinson never went that distance except when he picked the fourth to flatten an opponent . . . Marty had won 56 successive fights when Ray stopped his streak last year; Robinson now has won 31 straight as a pro . . . Tulane sent the names of six 1941 seniors to Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune for the All-Star football ballot. Five of them are in the navy or will be by next month . . . George Pillsbury, recently elected Yale crew captain, is the fourth member of that Minneapolis family to pull an oar for the Blue . . . Seems that Minneapolis sends the flour of its youth to Yale.

One-Minute Sports Page

There was only one private, Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., in the six-man army contingent in the P. G. A. tournament; all the rest were corporals . . . Betty Robinson, who was Olympic track champion in 1928, is working in one of the war stamp booths at Lincoln Fields . . . They're blaming the war for the absence of squawks in the Kitty league this season. The circuit had a tough time lining up six umpires to work for $150 a month and expenses and apparently the wolves are afraid to get too tough for those six will head for the army or defense plants. —Horsemen at Belmont complain that they have to pay $38 a ton for the stuff they feed their nags—who said that ain't hay?

Today's Guest Star

Arthur Siegel, Boston Traveler: "Clark Shaughnessy, who is winding up spring football practice at Maryland this week, has, as his assistants, a bacteriologist, an agronomist and a chemist . . . He, himself, is an optimist."

Service Depart.

When he played basketball in West Philadelphia and later drew sports cartoons for the Evening Ledger, Bob Bowie was six feet four and weighed only 140 pounds; he had to fill up on bananas and water to make the weight requirements for the army. Now, after four months in uniform at Jefferson Barracks and Lowry Field, Bob has put on 27 pounds without gulping a single banana . . . Checking over the list of Texans who recently were decorated for bravery in action in the Pacific war zone, Amos Menton of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram learned that ten of the bombers of Tokyo were former college and high school athletes and three other ex-footballers had received awards for valor.

Cleaning The Cuff

To help the ticket sale for yesterday's Army - Navy benefit ball game at Chicago, 93 sailors from the navy pier volunteered to spend their spare time delivering tickets to buyers . . . The reason Heinz Becker likes to play first base for the Milwaukee Brewers is that he found it "too lonesome" when he was an outfielder . . . One of the promising performers in Vic Fleming's stable of trotting horses is a two-year-old filly named "Emily Post" . . . A well-mannered filly, no doubt.

Meets Craig Wood Today; Both Players Shooting Under Par

By GAYLE TALBOT
ATLANTIC CITY, May 28.—(AP)—The outstanding match in the second round of the Professional Golfers association championship at the sprawling Sea View club today appeared to be the one between Ben Hogan and Ky Lafoon, each whom has, in turn, been a seven-day wonder among the country's big golf winners in recent years.

Either that or the match between Craig Wood, the National open champion, and Leland Gibson of Kansas City, Mo., who is little known in big-money circles but who has been shooting more than anybody's share of golf here.

Players True To Form

This is the difficulty of a P. G. A. tournament. For the most part the country's money players run true to form. Something like 100 professionals from every corner of the country started play in the qualifying round three days ago, yet of the 16 still in there pitching today there were only two who might be termed outsiders.

One of them was the aforementioned Gibson. The other was Tom Marmon of Montclair, N. J. The other 14 either were players who have won their share of national headlines in their time or who still dominate the game.

Byron Nelson, the favorite, reached the second round without exertion. His trick stomach was troubling him, as usual, and he wasn't quite satisfied with his game, yet the quiet spoken Texan still was so far superior to most of his rivals that he spent a good part of the last two days experimenting with his various shots.

Chance For Upset

Gibson appeared to have the best chance of scoring an upset today. The slight, blond Kansas City player shot surprisingly good golf in the qualifying round and kept it up in overwhelming Jimmy Gauntt of Longview, Texas, in yesterday's first round. He had a 69 in the morning—three strokes under par—and took only 32 for the outward nine in the afternoon in beating Gauntt 10 and 9.

But that still didn't mean he could lick Craig Wood today. Wood, veteran of a hundred big tournaments, was six under par when he closed out Rod Munday of Toledo, 5 and 4, yesterday.

Harmon, the only other "outsider" among the survivors, faced Jimmy Demaret today. Demaret beat Corp. Vic Ghezzi, the defending champion, 4 and 3, in yesterday's opening 36-hole test. So Harmon's chances of being among the eight survivors tonight were less than bright.

Sammy Byrd, the former big league outfielder, carried almost the unanimous support of the gallery into yesterday's feature match against Sam Snead. But in the end it was Snead, the crack money player, who beat Byrd down in the afternoon and smashed him finally by a lopsided margin of 7 and 6.

No Longer Necessary To Save Paper

Housewives Are Asked Not To Save Waste Paper

The State Salvage Committee issued a bulletin this week stating that it is no longer necessary to collect waste paper.

The committee issued the following statement from H. L. Gutzertson, chief of the general salvage section, Bureau of Industries Conservation, WPB:

The shortage of waste paper no longer exists. Six months ago we were faced with the prospect of mills curtailing operations and a consequent decrease in the paper board needed to pack war equipment.

A call was issued to the people of Missouri asking them of the situation and asking that they salvage waste paper.

The citizens of Missouri responded magnificently to the challenge. They responded to a degree which made the most optimistic estimates look pale. They responded with a speed and enthusiasm that in a few short months overcame this drastic shortage and transferred it into a temporary surplus of waste paper.

It is, of course almost impossible for anyone, no matter how well acquainted he may be with the paper board business, to definitely say whether or not a waste paper shortage will again develop sometime in the future. At present it seems most unlikely.

Discontinue Collection
Therefore, for the time being and until further notice, housewives, collection agencies, and charities are urged to discontinue their collection of waste paper unless they can economically dispose of it locally.

Other critical shortages are now facing us, and we are consequently asking the citizens of Missouri to turn all their astonishingly productive efforts to the questions of scrap rubber and scrap metals of all kinds. Now that the waste paper shortage has been licked, it is to be expected that more time and effort can be directed toward the salvaging of vitally needed rubber and scrap metals.

The citizens of Missouri responded to their government's request; they did a splendid job and thanks to them, one great production battle has been won.

We still have another production battle in the collection of scrap metals, old rubber, and other badly needed materials. You are urged to inform every man, woman and child of the size of the job this nation has set out to do. That job is to build the greatest mechanized army in the world, an air force greater than all the rest of the world, a navy larger than all other navies put together, and a merchant marine second to none. In order to do this job it will take every pound of scrap metals and old rubber that can be located and returned to our factories for reprocessing. This job is your job, and all salvage efforts for these materials should be continued until this work is completed.
